

Our Town

By Peggy Blanchard
Rose Wilcox's next door neighbor here pressed a slip of paper into her hand as she was leaving for the East a few days ago and asked her to telephone his sister in Detroit.

The memo contained just the words "Helen Banks, Robson, Detroit." Rose dialed the call, fell to talking with the sister in question, discovered that Helen's husband was a next-door neighbor of Rose and her family when she was a youngster on Pallister avenue!

★ Golden sun lay over San Francisco Bay Friday afternoon, sifted through a thin, high fog that chilled the breeze to briskness.

Most San Franciscans were out showing the town to their visiting nieces, grandchildren, uncles or cousins. And among the vacationers, we were two in the sizeable sprinkling atop Telegraph Hill, where the bay spreads out on either hand like a beautiful bas-relief.

Far below, we could see the Embarcadero, laced with gay colored passenger ships, merchantmen and soberer gray Navy ships.

Later we went down to the wharfside and saw stacks of merchandise ready for loading—and the Dragon Fly, just in from China, unloading her wares. Last time we were there was during a dock strike, so Friday's bustle was an impressive contrast to the previous inactivity.

The Army has stationed guards and stop signs at the entrance to the Oakland Base again and a series of enlistees practiced sentry duty on us.

★ Should you stop for a pedestrian even if he's crossing the street between corners? Yes, says the California State Motor Vehicle code, so I flunked that question Tuesday when applying for my new driving license.

At that, I had an average grade for an old-timer, three misses out of 40. You have to know at least 36 of the right answers, or no license. And the man tells me that young drivers test 'way above the average—it's unusual for a new driver to miss more than two questions and their actual driving rates superior to that of their elders—at least while the officer is looking. Experienced drivers get into careless habits that they find mighty hard to disguise when driving test time comes around.

The highway department gives a lot of credit to Driver Education in our schools.

In case any of the small fry are listening, don't think that means you can have the car tonight, just on general principals. Remember, Father still buys that gas, oil and insurance.

LIGHTS 'N' SHADOWS

By H. D. B.
P. S. to Peg's column: In being the "outside" man for this paper perhaps I run into a lot of things of interest to people in general. So, taking paper and typewriter in hand I'll pass along a few of the things that are doing about our town.

Ben Strong, genial gentleman of the Campbell scene, director of the Chamber of Commerce, Rotarian, spare time real estate dabbler and painting contractor was caught . . . unawares, and knee-bent over a saw-horse in his new store in the J. and A. market building on lower Campbell avenue cutting up pine boards that had that knotty look. Surprised as he and we were when we burst in upon him . . . he reluctantly admitted that at long last Campbell was to have a genuine, smart, up to the minute paint and wall-paper store at the location where we caught him in his snow-white overalls.

Ben has been doing a quietly remarkable job of enlisting some new blood in the Campbell Chamber of Commerce . . . and that's good!

★ ANOTHER CONCEPT: In the matter of police protection, satisfactorily administered, and of genuine value to Campbell merchants and citizens alike, it seems a strange commentary that we should read in the Press today that the town of Gilroy is offered without request a Sheriff's sub-station with a full complement of men and radio equipped cars. And that further, the police chief there is amazed at such an offer. The chief, albeit he has a feeling of pride in his own force, says that he knows of no emergency condition existing that would require

Peaches, Pears in Heavy Demand as 'Cot And Prune Ranchers Rue Bumper Crop

In contrast to the plight of apricot and prune growers, peach and pear ranchers are due for a boom year, it was reported Wednesday.

Current market quotations are up to $110 for pears in Bay area canneries and demand is said to be brisk. Floods to the North and drought to the South have put a premium on Campbell pears.

Peaches are holding their own in an upward market due to the small acreage devoted to them here, it is understood.

Many apricot growers, glum over the fact that no price agreement has yet been set on their fruit, increased their own ranch-drying facilities in order to hold on for a more favorable market.

Some who have sold to Bay side canneries report that rejects are running as high as fifty per cent of the tonnage. Ton prices were reported at $60 and $65 gross—less, say local growers, than the crop costs them before delivery.

While prunes, in bumper-crop proportions, are ripening all over the area, growers of that healthful fruit are eyeing their trees ruefully, uncertain whether Nature is doing them a favor or an injury.

Enlists in Navy

Auto License Fees Net Santa Clara County and Cities $543,233 'In Lieu' Tax

Cities and counties of California were apportioned $23,816,584 of motor vehicle license fee ("in lieu" tax) revenues Wednesday, an increase of $12,789,674 over the allocation made during July, 1947.

One-half, or $11,908,292 was distributed to the 304 cities of the State, and a like amount was apportioned to the 58 counties. The allocation was made on a population basis, with a per capita rate for cities of $1.76, and a county rate of $1.72.

Kuchel said that "in lieu" tax collections deposited in the treasury during the year ended June 30 reached the all-time high of $42,-

Producers Plea for Use of Local Sugar

The Santa Clara County Farm Bureau today urged all housewives, eating establishments and industrial users of sugar to support an important homegrown agricultural product by giving preference to beet sugar.

Charles Gubser, Truck Crops Chairman of the Farm Bureau, called attention to the special campaign which has been launched for the period of August 9-14, to stimulate the consumption of home-grown sugar.

"The production and manufacturing of beet sugar is a basic enterprise in California," said Gubser. "It is a major agricultural crop in 17 counties, representing thousands of producers."

The campaign to boost consumption of this product, said Gubser, will be carried on in co-operation with retailers, chambers of commerce, merchants associations and other distributive groups

Original Diary in Famed Portola Exhibit

Dean Alva R. Davis, (right) of the University of California at Berkeley presenting Portola's Diary for exhibition in the Historical Caravan to George Heinz, executive secretary of the California Centennials Commission.

The personal diary of Don Gaspar de Portola chronicling his famed expedition in 1769 that led to the first colonization of California will be shown throughout the State in the Historical Caravan now being assembled by the California Centennials Commission, it has been announced.

Loan of the priceless document to the Caravan was granted by the University of California. Dr. George P. Hammond, director of the Bancroft Library at Berkeley, is custodian of the treasure.

Statewide exhibition of Portola's diary, along with many other equally valuable items pertaining to California history, is of additional interest in the light of the reenactment of the Spanish explorer's trek from San Diego to San Francisco now being staged as a highlight of the Centennial celebration.

Existence of the Portola diary is not as well known as are the writings of other contemporaries; particularly the much referred to papers of Father Junipero Serra, spiritual guide of the expedition, and Father Juan Crespi, who kept a detailed daily record of the journey. In gauging the stature of the determined leader of one of the world's most significant expeditions, historians have been particularly impressed with his taking time to record on paper his observations and daily occurrences of his travel northward to Monterey

Accepts Call from Congregationalists

First Congregational Church of Campbell announced late Wednesday that the Reverend Corwin Olds, of Berkeley, has accepted a call to the pulpit here.

He will take over the pastorate of the local church within a few weeks, succeeding the Reverend Robert L. Carlson who has accepted a fellowship at Yale University.

Mr. Olds was graduated by the University of Maine and the Theological School of Bangor, Me., and served as a chaplain during the war and since. He and Mrs. Olds and their family will live in Campbell.

Mrs. Anderson will continue the business and Mrs. Fanning, who wished to have her business away from home, will have a new shop in the Town and Country Patio of stores, 221-225 E. Campbell avenue.

Committeemen OK Radio Hook-Up for Local Patrolman

Short-wave radio communication with Sheriff Howard Hornbuckle's office will soon be in operation for Campbell's patrol car following action of a Chamber of Commerce committee Tuesday evening.

By this weekend, it is expected that a radio beam number will be obtained so that calls can be relayed instantly to the local deputy who is hired by individual business firms under the sponsorship of the Chamber.

The C. of C. Police Committee asked the patrolman Tuesday for a complete list of his duties in preparation for a survey of necessary policing of the area. It is understood the committee is considering ways and means of increasing public safety here.

Among the recommendations they heard was one to hire a full-time accredited officer.

To Argue Insanity Plea on Friday

Mrs. Giovanna Magnasco's plea of insanity in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband will be heard by Superior Court Judge William F. James at 10 a.m. Friday.

The hearing was postponed Monday upon agreement of both prosecution and defense counsel. The 56-year-old woman was convicted of slaying her husband, Peter, with a shotgun.

During her brief appearance in court, Mrs. Magnasco said that she felt ill because she had not exercised enough. She asked to be taken to the County Hospital.

Joseph A. Bonacina, her attorney, persuaded her to return to her cell in the County Jail quietly.

Car Demolished; Z. Hodges Unhurt

Although his car rolled over and was smashed in an accident Monday afternoon, Z. Hodges of Campbell was unscathed.

Mr. Hodges, 74, was returning to his home in Campbell after a visit with relatives in Oakland. His car was involved in the accident when passing a second car on the road. Hodges and a passenger escaped injury when their auto turned over in a ditch at the side of the road.

GRASS FIRE

Campbell Fire District volunteers were called to extinguish a grass fire in the Los Gatos Creek bed at 1:18 p.m. Tuesday.

Thursday Opening A "Huge Success;" Merchants Add Bargains to Attraction Of Extra Shopping Hours Each Week

Enthusiastic over response to their Thursday night opening last week, Campbell merchants agreed early this week to continue the custom.

"Reports from stores who kept their doors open Thursday until 9 p.m. indicated the trial venture was a huge success," Frank Accardi, chairman of the sponsoring merchant's committee of Campbell Chamber of Commerce said.

"Co-operation of all the Campbell retail stores was the biggest single factor in attracting hundreds to shop during the additional hours," he said.

Owners Plan New Construction on Campbell Avenue

A modern structure to house offices and stores on E. Campbell avenue with a terrace of new homes behind it to front on Everett way is planned by Antony Raffanti, who recently purchased the property adjoining the Post Office building between First and Second streets.

Report of the sale of E. Campbell avenue property between Second and Third streets was confirmed this week by the purchaser, Joseph Agostinho, who plans a future business development there.

No plan to disturb leases now held by occupants of the property is contemplated, he said.

Two new stores are now being completed on Campbell avenue near Winchester road.

Twilight League Enters Second Half

The Methodist Church softball team in the Campbell Twilight League came out on top at the end of the first half of the season. They scored six wins against only one defeat. However, the church lads had to bow to the All Stars, a team made up of outstanding players from all the other teams in the league. Final score was 14 to 4 for the All-Stars.

Campbell Rotary Club has entered a team in the second half. The aggregation of Rotary youngsters will fill out the schedule for Hunt's Foods who had to quit due to the pressure of long hours and night work.

In the first two games of the second round Methodist Church had to extend themselves in a gruesome contest with the Odd Fellows. The game was called in the sixth and will be replayed. San Tomas forfeited to the American Legion.

In games this week Kiwanis plays Moorpark on Thursday night. Next week Cambrian engages Kiwanis on Monday and the Methodist Church and the Legion team play on Tuesday.

Sanitation District Boundaries Will Be Set by Committee of Supervisors Board

The Board of Supervisors concluded hearings on a petition to organize a sanitation district, embracing Campbell, Los Gatos and Saratoga areas, and referred the question of elimination of territory to the county boundary committee.

The committee will study all protests against inclusion of lands in the district and determine which lands must be omitted and which will remain within the district.

County Counsel Howard Campbell reminded the proponents and opponents of the district that un-

Merchants here are following up the bonus-hours for shoppers with special prices and items for this Thursday evening.

Thursday night shopping here was designed to accommodate canner workers and others whose working hours prevent day-time shopping.

It was initiated by a Chamber of Commerce Committee headed by Accardi and including Roy Ford, Orville Johns, Richard Lazarini, Mrs. I. O. McConnell, Ed Hubert and Bert Collins.

"Campbell stores now offer the largest variety and selection ever," the committee pointed out, and the Thursday night specials are an additional opportunity for local buyers."

The plan is for all to bring their own food, with ice cream and soda pop offered for sale on the grounds. It's to be a big family fun day and all are invited.

On Wednesday, August 12, a community campfire and songfest will be held at the baseball diamond at the high school. Singing, story-telling and entertainment.

Campbell Grange Will Hear Koster

Edwin Koster, state deputy of California Grange, will speak at a meeting of Orchard City Grange 333, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 10, in I.O.O.F. hall.

Koster oversees Grange work in addition to his duties as deputy and travels to all parts of the state installing officers and conducting special ceremonies.

H. M. Shadle, master of Orchard City Grange, said he hopes to arrange for Koster to confer obligation upon prospective new members during his visit here Tuesday.

less the district is formed by Feb. 1 of next year, it will not be added to the county assessment roll that year, and, consequently, no bonds could be sold until it is on the assessment roll.

W. V. Wood, president of Saratoga sanitary district, and J. F. Thompson and George H. McNulty, Los Gatos, urged formation of the district "so we can get sewers."

Atty. C. B. Wooster and Realty Dealer F. Magee, both representing W. J. King, Los Gatos, urged the district be organized.

Paul Shaffer, Union avenue, Campbell, also favored the district.

Old Hats for Cove Dance

Strictly 'old hat' — that's the plan for a bux's Cove Mid-Summer dance Friday evening, Aug. 6.

Postal cards announcing the dance to members of the High School group who form the organization requested sports clothes and "your oldest hat—no levis, khakis or cords."

There'll be a prize for the strangest looking head gear, so that means many of the dancers will be there with bells on, or in fanciful concoctions of their own design.

Dancing begins at 9:30 p.m., after ping pong from 7:30 to 8:45 and a chapter of the current movie serial.

Sign-ups for a skating party Tuesday evening will be taken at the Friday dance. Plans are for a bus to leave the high school at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, for an evening of fun at Roller Land.

Youthful Pianists Presented By Teacher

An informal recital of unusual interest was presented by pupils from Kathleen S. Bergeron's Piano Studio for Children in Campbell, last Friday evening, in the Country Woman's clubhouse.

These young musicians, aged six to 14, kept the audience interested throughout the program with their solos, ensemble numbers, their transposing and playing in reverse. The center part of the program was devoted to playing from manuscript, original compositions which some of the youngsters had written.

The pleasure these young musicians got out of doing these things was apparent and generous applause of the audience showed they were having as much fun as those who presented the program.

Certificates of Merit were awarded the pupils at the close of the program. Mrs. Bergeron is a member of the Santa Clara Branch of the Music Teachers' Association of California and as such is entitled to award these certificates.

The books in which the pupils learn to write music and the original composition manuscripts were placed on a table for the audience to see after the program was ended.

Pupils taking part were: Vivienne Andres, Allan Blaine, Richard Buck, Linda Edgmon, Bobbie Jo Flanagan, Douglas Ford, Laura Gordon, Joline Howard, Deanna Lewis, Janet Madruga, Barbara Osborne and Nancy Titus.

Three pupils were unable to play in the recital due to illness and sundry causes. They were Janet Marovich, Diana Robba and Becky Young.

ard and Carol Titus, presented the programs.

The club room was beautifully decorated with flowers donated by the program. Mrs. Bergeron is a member of the Santa Clara Branch of the Music Teachers' Association of California and as such is entitled to award these certificates.

The books in which the pupils learn to write music and the original composition manuscripts were placed on a table for the audience to see after the program was ended.

The pupils and their teacher, Mrs. Bergeron were delighted to see Mr. Richard Jesson, professor of organ at San Jose State College, in the audience.

Apple Pandowdy

"Apple Pandowdy—that wonderful stuff" . . . so the song goes and here it is, in person! Juicy apples, enriched with molasses and spices . . . topped with crusty-brown pastry that melts in your mouth. Serve it warm with cream, to bring out all the fragrant aromas and flavor—truly a dessert worth singing about.

Apples are plentiful this year, and here's a wonderful tested recipe for a fine old American favorite—Apple Pandowdy.

Apple Pandowdy

4 large tart apples, pared and sliced thin
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup sifted Emergency flour
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 cup Spry
1/2 cup milk (about)

Fill Spry-coated oblong baking dish, 10 x 6 x 2 inches, with sliced apples. Mix sugar, cinnamon, salt, and flour thoroughly. Add molasses and hot water to dry ingredients, mix thoroughly, and pour over apples. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 25 minutes.

Meanwhile sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in Spry fine. Add milk, mixing to a soft dough. Knead lightly about 20 seconds. Roll dough into a rectangle about 1/4 inch thick. Fit dough over cooked apple mixture. Prick top all over with fork. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 20-25 minutes. Serve warm with cream. Serves 8.

How To Stall Production

Letter to the Editor:

Editor, Campbell Press:—
The San Jose Chapter American Guild of Organists wishes to thank you for the space allotted in your newspaper this past year in announcing our three organ concert artists and our monthly meetings and programs.

The San Jose Chapter is most fortunate in being able to present, without charge to the public, each year three eminent world-renowned concert artists, and it depends solely on the publicity of the local newspapers to invite music lovers of San Jose and surrounding communities to attend these recitals. Many times we have only one opportunity in a lifetime to hear these artists, and these opportunities would be missed if it were not for the publicity given in the papers. The monthly programs, which are always open to the public, are not only worthwhile and enjoyable to Chapter members but to others as well, and it is only through the medium of the newspapers that our programs are announced to the public. Our Chapter covers a large membership from Santa Clara and Santa Cruz Counties and it is continuing to grow with each meeting.

Again we thank you for your splendid cooperation and the publicity you have so generously given us this past year in your fine newspaper.

Yours truly,
MARJORIE MARSHALL BONDE
Recorder.

Dear Editor:

"One out of every six alcoholics is a woman, survey shows."

"One out of every six chronic alcoholics is a woman," says Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the national committee for Education on Alcoholism. This would mean more than 19,000 Californians are habitual drunkards.

More than half these female alcoholics alternate drinks with deadly "goof balls" or barbiturate tablets, she added.

One deadly "goof ball" has the destructive and deadly effect of a pint of whiskey.

San Francisco holds the rank of the most alcoholic city in the nation, she said, with Sacramento and San Diego close behind.

California has five of the first 10 cities in the nation leading in alcoholism. Los Angeles and Oakland are the other two.

More than 650,000 of the nation's 4,000,000 chronic alcoholics are women, Mrs. Mann said.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop 31 of the Campbell Congregational Church added drama to its long list of accomplishments when it performed before the Campbell Grange last Tuesday, July 27. The purpose of performance was to present to the members of the Grange what Scouting stands for, what scouts do in activities, and how the Scouting program is made up on a troop basis.

Each troop officer told what his duties were and the following boys took part in this portion of the program: Junior Assistant Scoutmaster, Gerald Gilliam; Senior Patrol Leader, Noel Whaley; Patrol Leader, Bill Plymale; Scribe, Jay Martin; Quartermaster, Dick Gled. Demonstrations of First Aid, signaling and rope work were presented next to the Grange members by scouts Windbigler, Gilliam, Devitt, Merrill, Smith, Pierce, Daltzell and D. Martin. The troop presented a typical scout game and finished the evening by singing some scout songs to the audience. Grange members asked questions about Scouting and about some of the badges that the boys were wearing. A feed of watermelons was given the troop by the Grange and needless to say this proved to be the high spot of the evening for the Scouts.

Troop 31 has also been busy in recent community projects, as they have participated in both the Community Carnival and in the Hobby Show. Troop chairman for the Carnival was S.P.L. Marlowe Windbigler. Ron Gilpatrick served as head of the Hobby Show committee.

Future plans for the troop include a trip to Big Basin and another long term camping trip before school opens to the Pinnacles. Swimming will take the main spotlight for the rest of the summer as the troop is trying to reach the goal of every scout a swimmer.

America's biggest power-building program going full speed ahead

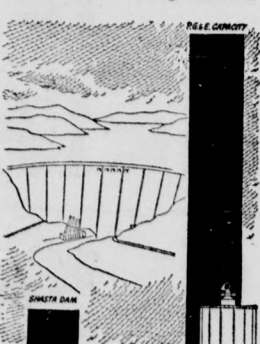

Nearly two million new electrical horsepower is on the way for Northern and Central California...and the dams, powerhouses and substations needed to turn it out are being built on a 'round the clock, 'round the calendar work schedule.

It's the biggest building program of any electric utility in America today—began just after the war ended—already well along toward its goal! To give you a quick picture, here are some comparisons.

More power is being added than was needed to serve all of Northern and Central California before the war. Construction is speeding along at over $10,000,000 a month.

Added to previous totals, this new power will give P.G. and E. a generating capacity eight times greater than Shasta Dam...three times greater than Hoover Dam.

Thousands of jobs have been created. Today 6,000 men are hard at work building the power needed to serve growing California...to serve you better.

Work never stops on our power-building program

"Three Blind Tumblers"

BLIND YOUNGSTERS can do almost everything that sighted kids can do. Here's proof supplied by three blind tumblers who are demonstrating the physical exercise they get at summer camp for blind children. Recreation for the Blind's current fund drive will finance a permanent summer camp in the redwoods between Los Gatos and Santa Cruz where sightless children from all over California can enjoy an out-of-doors vacation every

Hair Down — Prices Up?

It's a changing world. The models above show the old (left) and the new hair-dos. The new styles are down, but the price of hair styling will go up unless Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., wins a patent battle now pending in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Even keeping beautiful is threatened by the high cost of living. The cost of machineless permanent waves will go up unless Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., of Chicago, wins a battle to reverse a lower court decision. The firm has announced it is carrying the fight to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The decision affects millions of customers of the nation's 300,000 beauticians. A lower court has ruled in favor of Sales Affiliates, Inc., on two of four patents on materials for machineless permanents in an infringement suit against Helene Curtis. Court records show that Sales Affiliates has licensed the Toni Company and Halgar, Inc., to manufacture and sell pads for machineless permanents. Toni now sells only home cold wave sets. Willard Gidwitz, executive vice-president of Helene Curtis, said his firm was continuing the fight in the interests of the beauticians and the public. The additional cost would have to be passed on to the public by beauty shops, he said. "Materials for machineless waves represent only a few items among the hundreds in our lines," Gidwitz said, "and it would cost less to pay the royalties than to appeal. But since we supply only professional beauty shops, we are concerned over them and their customers. We also are concerned because Sales Affiliates has licensed two firms in competition to beauty shops. "We are advised by counsel that we may be confident of winning. In a number of patent suits affecting similar beauty products in the past, lower court decisions have been reversed."

Million Dollars in New Homes Leads Building List

In case you think all the building materials are going into flossie night clubs, and other commercial establishments, take a look at the building permits issued by Santa Clara County during July:

One-family dwellings led the list with $1,180,000 worth of permits for 168 homes.

This was more than twice the amount in prospect for all other types of buildings which totaled a mere $712,500. "Other" buildings included $200,000 for new school rooms—much of it in the Campbell area — and $32,250 for additions and alterations to one-family homes.

Listed also are: A motel, $36,000; four store structures, $108,000; veterinary hospital, $15,000; tank, $22,000; store and apartment, $20,000; garage and showroom, $10,000; horse barn, $30,000; 21 private garages and accessory buildings, $16,050, and 22 miscellaneous commercial buildings, $97,000.

Improved Finish Adds New Lustre

A new fabric finishing process is making it possible for the first time for cottons to have every degree of durable lustre. The new treatment can give cotton fabrics a finish varying from exceptional softness to taffeta-like crispness, along with spot, soil and crease resistance and stabilization qualities.

The rat population of the United States has been estimated at 130,000,000.

Expanded Program Aids Blood Bank Donor Service

The present Santa Clara Valley Blood Bank, operated by the County Medical Society and San Jose Chapter, American Red Cross, is an expansion of the Civilian Blood Donor Service conducted jointly by the two organizations from October, 1946, until the larger program took shape in January, 1948.

The expanded program has been made possible by financial assistance of National Red Cross, which has furnished all of the equipment for a complete blood processing laboratory and the vehicles and equipment for a large mobile unit, together with paying all salaries of the technical staff.

Although the Civilian Blood Donor Service was generally successful and placed this community in a position to be one of the first in the United States to obtain the benefits of the National Blood Program, it was nip and tuck during the 15 months of its operation to maintain an adequate supply of blood to meet the community's needs.

During this period, there were two blood drawing sessions a week in the Chapter House and one night drawing a week at the County Hospital. All of the blood was processed in the County Hospital laboratory.

A total of 4,000 pints of free blood was made available to the community in the 15-month period.

In the latter part of 1947, with inclusion in the National program assured if satisfactory arrangements could be worked out on the community level, Medical Society and San Jose Chapter representatives began negotiations which led to the signing of a contract on December 22, 1947, for the joint operation of the expanded program.

This contract called for the setting up of a nine-member board to operate the Blood Bank, with three members from the Medical Society, three from the Red Cross Chapter Board of Directors, and three from the community at large. It was stipulated that the Medical Society would have control of the technical phases of the operation, and the Red Cross would have charge of recruitment, promotion and all non-technical phases.

Blood taking sessions were increased to four times a week and the quota to meet community needs was boosted from 300 to 500 pints a month. A staff was employed, consisting of a director, assistant director, medical director, administrative assistant, laboratory technician, chief nurse, deputy chief nurse, six nurses and a blood custodian. The number of Red Cross volunteers working with the program was correspondingly increased.

Pending completion of a new blood center addition at the rear of the San Jose House, 440 North First street, a temporary laboratory was installed in the Chapter House basement and began operating March 3, 1948. The contract for the new building was signed on April 2, 1948, with work to

U. C. Agriculturists To Judge at Fair

Two members of the dairy husbandry division of the University of California College of Agriculture, from the Davis campus, will judge livestock in the California State Fair stock show in Sacramento, September 2 to 12. This announcement is made by the State Fair officials, who named a list of judges containing some of the most prominent university and stock men in the United States.

Dr. Elmer H. Hughes, head of the animal husbandry division, will judge hogs, and Prof. Robert F. Miller will judge sheep classes.

Modern Educator Has Many Roles

The modern school administrator must have as many roles as a fine repertory actor, believes Dr. Walter Hepner, president of San Diego State College, who addressed California educators gathered at the final session of the tenth annual School Executives Conference held recently at U. C. L. A. under auspices of University Extension.

"The school administrator must be a leader, a morale builder, a policy developer, an administrator and a supervisor. In addition he must be a leader in the community. Indeed, the function and scope of action of the administrator are almost as broad as society itself," the San Diego educator declared. "The administrator's major objective is to administer public education to the end that children and youth may achieve the maximum learnings needed in a dynamic democratic society. The achievement of this objective requires insight and operational know-how, continuously enlightened and perfected by experience and study," Dr. Hepner concluded.

U. C. Division Experiments with Dried Prunes

A rapid procedure for preparing candied prunes from the dried fruit has been developed in the laboratory of the food technology division of the University of California. Prunes are cooked in dilute corn and cane syrup. For awhile they are left standing, and then they are drained and dried.

The laboratory has also developed an excellent new candy bar from prunes. To obtain it, prune juice first is made into a jelly by cooking it with fruit pectin, sugar, citric acid and corn or invert syrup. The prune jelly is then mixed with about twice its weight of chopped pitted prunes. The result is a delicious and healthful candy bar or box candy.

The smallest state in the Union has the longest name—the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations.

The old Latin word for money—"pecunia," from which we get our word "pecuniary"—came from "pecus," meaning cattle.

THOUGHTFUL SERVICE
IN TIME OF NEED

by T. T. Holden*

You'll miss many exciting shots like this one if you don't have the mechanics of picture-making down to a routine that enables you to concentrate on shooting at the right split-second.

ROUTINE CAN MAKE PICTURES BETTER

Too many pictures are spoiled by one small error or overlooked detail. Professionals, knowing this, devote much of their training to developing certain routine habits that become second nature.

Take a simple fault like double exposure. You'll never spoil two pictures this way if you make a habit of advancing the film immediately after each picture.

You can save yourself a lot of grief in the darkroom if you always put your trays in the same position—developer farthest from the sink or on your left.

If you make one type of film, one developer, one developing time and one brand printing paper routine until you are expert with them you greatly improve your chances for good pictures.

Then there are certain routines of picture-taking that can spell the difference between success and disappointment. Cultivate the habit of always holding your camera the same way for steadiness. Develop a routine for working the controls that just won't let you forget to set the diaphragm or make some other important adjustment.

Make a habit before you snap the shutter of quickly checking all the small but important elements that must go into a good picture—focus, background, the model's clothes and hair, the pose, exposure, etc.—to make sure that everything is exactly the way it should be.

Habit patterns are the best insurance possible against forgetting mechanical details that make or break a picture. You can develop any routine you choose, just so long as it becomes second nature to follow it every time you make a shot. Most important, once you get a fixed routine firmly established in your mind, you will find that it leaves you free to concentrate all your attention on the creative problems that are your picture.

New Safety Light Installed by Truckers

A manually operated "passing light" now being installed on trucks and trailers promises to eliminate the motorist's pet gripe about being stuck at low speeds behind one of the big vans, unable to pass because he couldn't see ahead.
The light, mounted at the rear of the vehicle, enables the truck driver to signal the word "Pass" to cars behind if the road ahead is clear of on-coming traffic.

Fair Grounds Are Spruced Up With Shade, Flowers

Santa Clara County's Fair Grounds are beginning to take on that "new look" in preparation for the Fourth Annual County Fair to be held Sept. 13-19.

This "new look" can be seen in the planting of flowers, shrubs and trees and in the addition of new permanent buildings.

Over 40 thousand flowering plants have been set out to give color and beauty of background for the variety of exhibits, and hundreds of new trees have been planted to provide shade. At the base of many of these trees benches are being placed so there will be plenty of resting places for foot-weary visitors.

New building includes the 50-stall horse barn to house race horses, an unloading platform by the Southern Pacific tracks for taking off equipment and supplies, locker and shower rooms for herders, a house for the new 50-ton weighing scale, an addition to the poultry display space, and a permanent eight foot panel fence surrounding the floriculture display area.

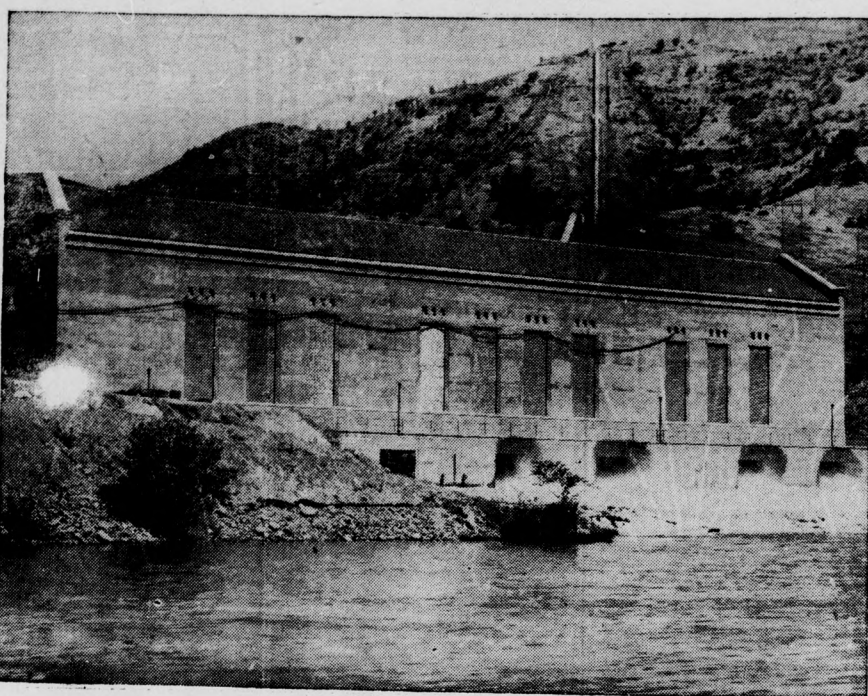

Entries are now coming in in all divisions, and meetings are being held at the Fair Grounds by the various committee heads to formulate final plans for the layout of space. These committee men invite anyone interested in entering an exhibit to call Ballard 1380, or write the Fair Grounds for premium books and entry blanks.

On Half Holiday During August

In the heart of the Mother Lode, California's most famous gold field, the waters of the Mokelumne River has been again harnessed to pour 133,000 horsepower of electricity into the network of power lines serving Northern and Central California. The new Electra plant, above, is now in service. It replaces a veteran plant of the same name on an adjacent site which has been in continuous service since 1902.

Swimming groups for adults are now being organized. The pool at Woodrow Wilson High School will be used. If a deal of some sort was made with Mayor Milias of Gilroy, for this service, without any request for extra help from the Chief of Police, just why is it that Campbell can't have service of the same sort from our county officials. Every reader of our paper will agree that we desperately need protection here. And without politics.

and San Francisco Bay. This in spite of the enumerable problems challenging Portola as he braved a trackless wilderness.

As was the custom of the times, upon completion of his arduous explorations, Portola had his writings transcribed by a professional scribe. Thus, those viewing the Historical Caravan, as it tours the State during the next two and one half years, will see what is actually a contemporary manuscript written by hand in the neat, ornate script of the period. The parchment pages of the manuscript, measuring approximately eight inches by eleven inches, are well preserved and though it was recorded almost two centuries ago, the historic words are clearly readable.
